AMDB Accepting Applications for Special Projects Proposals

Cheyenne (May 11, 2009) – The Wyoming Animal Damage Management Board is now accepting grant applications for special projects that emphasize integrated predator management in Wyoming.

Projects with an emphasis on research, education, and field management on predator species that damage crops, livestock, and wildlife and are a concern for human health and safety are desired. Successful grant recipients will be required to submit an annual report, including benefits derived from the project. Individuals, organizations, or government agencies may apply and all applications must be submitted by June 15, 2009.

The Wyoming Animal Damage Management Board mission is to coordinate and integrate a coordinated animal damage management program, based upon the best available science, for the benefit of human and natural resources throughout Wyoming.

For more information about the AMDB or a copy of the application, visit the AMDB website www.wyadmb.com or contact Kent Drake at (307) 777-6781.
